Our company is an innovative and dynamically developing business. We have been dealing with mining and processing bentonite clay since 2005. Due to its special composition, bentonite clay from our own mine became the raw material for more than 50 products.

Our products are useful supplements for healthy lifestyle. The medicinal and cosmetic use of bentonite clay have been almost unknown in Europe. Today, in addition to our domestic partners, our products are sold in several surrounding countries.

KAZÁR-VII. bentonite powder is a special clay mineral which was formed through hydrothermal alteration of volcanic ash in the saline water of ancient sea about 10-15 million years ago. This noble clay mostly consists of montmorillonite, also known as green clay.

Due to its favourable ion exchange capability, it supplements our cells with minerals and trace elements while removing chemicals and toxins that are harmful to our body and typically have a positive electrical charge. Our raw material was authorized of the use of name medicinal mud in 2019 under the name of KAZÁR- VII. Bentonite powder.

MEDICINAL MUD

KAZÁR-VII. bentonite powder is a special clay mineral which was formed through hydrothermal alteration of volcanic ash in the saline water of ancient sea about 10-15 million years ago. Its healing effect is due to its content of essential minerals for our body and its extremely good ion exchange ability.

In treatment of knee arthrosis, clinical trials have proven the healing effect: our medicinal mud has an analgesic and joint stiffness reducing effect. Experience has shown that the product can be used effectively for all musculoskeletal problems. The beneficial effect occurs either immediately and in some cases even after 1-2 treatments a significant improvement can be experienced. When used on inflamed body part, medicinal mud should be used in room temperature, so that the cooling and healing effects work together.
