

About us

The ExtraVital company was founded by a research pharmacist with PhD degree, who has been engaged in research and development for 10 years at Semmelweis University, Hungary.

The goal of ExtraVital's nutritional supplement products is to prevent the diseases that are typically developed in the majority of society today, so we can make the future healthier and more chemical-free in the long run.

Our dedicated team of pharmaceutical professionals strives to create innovative and complex dietary supplements that are made from natural ingredients. By using the various herbs, well-absorbed minerals, and vitamins in the right dosage, they provide the complex and synergistic effect in a single formulation for those who want to maintain their health.

During the production, we do not use the powdered parts of the plants, but their extracts from reliable suppliers, so the active ingredients are present in concentrated form in the proper dose. The products are manufactured in ISO 22000 laboratory and the quality of the products are tested by an independent laboratory.
