Tornai Winery is the oldest continuously operating family estate on Somló Hill.

Endre Tornai started his wine farm with 1.7 acres in 1946, and today we have grown to 172 acres, our wines are offered in several European and American Michelin-starred restaurants, and every year they bring in gold medals from some of the world's biggest competitions.

We have been awarded London's International Wine Challenge Trophy Award, the highest recognition of the world's most influential wine competition, four times since 2015.

Somló, with its wines and atmosphere, holds a unique place throughout the world. Thanks to its special volcanic soil, the climate, and the indigenous grape varieties, wines produced here cannot be reproduced anywhere else in the world. The Juhfark wine of Somló is a perfect combination of a variety and a terroir. The specialty of the hill is best shown by the Juhfark, and vice versa: the most characteristic features of this variety are best expressed here, on Somló. The result is a complex, mineral, and truly inimitable wine.
